About Us

The heart behind every cup

Our Story

Ava Yari opened Quarter Corner with a simple idea: make a place where comfort food and creative practice belong together. Ava grew up sketching in kitchen nooks and learning family recipes at the same table; she wanted to combine those two comforts into one welcoming space.

Quarter Corner is intentionally cozy — mismatched chairs, warm light, and a low hum of conversation — designed as a safe, unpretentious spot for anyone who wants to eat well and make things. Whether you're a quick-sketch weekend or a late-night painter, Ava wanted the cafe to feel like a warm studio away from home.

Fun Facts

Coin machines with art supplies — We repurposed vintage coin-op machines that accept various coins (not just quarters) and dispense small art supplies like pencil leads, erasers, and paintbrushes.

The art wall — a whole-wall gallery — A single side of the cafe is a rotating, communal gallery where customers pin sketches, doodles, and notes — a living collage that changes daily.

Bring (and share) your supplies — Guests are encouraged to bring their own sketchbooks and tools; we also keep basic supplies on hand to borrow or purchase.

The art-only attic — a quiet studio upstairs — Upstairs is an art-only attic studio (no food allowed) with easels, daylight lamps, and bookable space for longer projects and workshops.
